The visiting team was strengthened by Ellis of Brattleboro, but the clever blocking by Rix made him appear like a novice. The St. Jeromes started out in whirlwind fashion and took the lead by their good team work and passing, which was the best ever seen on the local floor. The first period ended with White Mountain and the Appalachian he score 8 to 6 in favor of the visitors. In the second period our team awoke to the fact that they were up against a hard proposition, and by accurate throwing and clever blocking overcame the visit-ors' lead. Beck replaced Wright in the third period and Oscar, as usual, made good, and responded to his hearty reception by eaging a difficult throw from the side line. McGovern and Smythe did excellent work for the home team, while Shay and Baggio excelled for the

The Business Meeting-Address Education of Deaf Children.

There was a very small attendance at the regular meeting of the Woman's club, Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. H. Dempsey, vice president, presided in the absence of the president. The report of Tuesday afternoon, the ceremony being the board meeting included the appropriperformed by Rev. Father Campeau, ation of an additional $5 to the school After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Johnson | library committee, for use in purchasing new cases and other necessities. The board also appropriated an additional $5 to the music committee and recommended to the club the appropriation of another $5 to purchase needed music Brunswick, Me., Monday, by the death | The club voted to grant the appropriation. The chorus is to take up the study of an operetta, which will be given at some future time, when it is hoped some money will be realized from it, which will be refunded to the club.

lederation board meeting at Brattleboro, by Miss Delia L Griffio. The federation Literary Club of Royalton applied for ing neighborhood. Ossters were served admission and was received to membership at this meeting, making 29 clubs now in the federation. She also made the announcement that Mrs. J. B. Needham of Rutland has been appointed state chairman of the legislative committee of the general federation. As sufficient intere t has not been shown in continuing the Vermonter as the official organ of the tederation, it was decided to unite with the Northern, the organ of the Maine and New Hampshire tederations, which magazine has been offered to any member of the Vermont clubs who send in subscriptions during the next three months, for 25 cents a year. The presiding officer appointed as a committee to solicit and receive subscriptions to this magazine, Miss Carrie Underwood will be pleased to receive subscriptions from the members of the local club. Pay of Richmond. and Miss Margaret Robie, both of whom were in their possession many interesting papers for private or public reading, that they would be glad to have used. This committee also urges clubs to give them papers of interest for circulation.

Another question that came before the club Monday was whether its officers should sign the petition to be sent to Congress tavoring forest reserves in the system, and it was voted to have it signed by them, and also to appoint a committee to solicit signatures from the business and professional men in town. Mrs. Dempsey also spoke of the importance of individual interest in the preservation of trees in our own towns, interest in which might be awakened by personal or historical interest which might be connected with some of the trees. This phase of the question was emphasized by Mrs. Abbie G. Cousins of Salem, Mass., chairman of the forestry committee, at the Brattleboro meeting. The method of nominating officers for the annual election was discussed and the discussion will be continued at the April meeting. The matter of voting on the license question was not forgotten and it was suggested that the women use their influence for the "no" license vote. Requeses come from the school library committee for complete year files of the St. Nicholas In the evening a good sized audience, including the public school and academy an interesting and instructive address by Miss Caroline A. Yale of the Clarke school for the deaf at Northampton, Mass, which she gave in Pythian Hall, preceded by a piano duet, finely executed, by Mrs. Harlan N Wood and Miss Alice B. Warden. Miss Delia I. Griffia, chairman of the education committee, who had in charge the program for the evening, presented Miss Yale, herself a Vermonter, who expressed herself as well pleased to address an audience in ber native state. She gave a history of the methods of in structing the deaf from the early ages, and spoke of the establishment of schools tor such instruction in France, Germany, Scotland, England, America and the United States, and of the methods used in the different countries. Among the methods mentioned were the pictorial, the gesture, the oral and the manual. Coming to the present time and speaking of the Clarke school in particular Miss Yale sented with an elegant electric reading took her audience into the primary room lamp from his associates on the board, on the opening day and gave word pictures of the work accomplished with the li tle ones, and their eagerness to grasp at the knowledge there obtained. She was a graceful recognition of his services also gave an insight into the work in the advanced classes, and told of the afterschool life of pupils educated in deaf schools. They enter all sorts of employment, some pursuing their studies in nigher schools and coileges. The Clarke school feels deeply indebte I to the state of Vermont for its efficient aid to the nearly 150 pupils who attend. Miss Yale responded to several inquiries from club members concerning the attendance from Vermont, and other subjects of in-
